Shoalhaven Heads Golf Club

SHOALHAVEN HEADS

SHOALHAVEN Heads is a stunning par-71, 18-hole links-style course retaining the natural dune contours blending with the seaside heritage protected native bush which is part of the Seven Mile Beach National Park.

Featuring many large undulating greens, a number of short but tricky par-4s coupled with its proximity to the ocean with the consistent sea breezes it presents a true test of golf.

Due to its sand base, the course holds up well during periods of protracted rain and is often one of the very few clubs in the area to remain open at all times. There is a fully stocked pro shop and a large fleet of golf carts for hire.

A testament to the quality of the course, Shoalhaven Heads Golf Club has now successfully hosted four major events over recent years – from the NSW Mid-Amateur Golf Championships in 2019, the NSW Senior Amateur Championships in 2021 to the 2022 NSW Country Championships and the 2023 NSWVGA Matchplay Championships.

Shoalhaven Heads Golf Club, just two hours from Sydney, provides an opportunity to play on an outstanding course while travelling further down, or returning from, southern NSW.

There is a range of quality accommodation within the Shoalhaven Heads village that will satisfy any visiting golfers, and many more options when taking in the surrounding and popular district of Berry.

More recently the club has expanded its catering offering and opened its “Links 19 Restaurant”, complementing the club’s licensed bar, with snacks and café-style a la carte meals.

The restaurant also caters for group bookings and events. Along with the 200 sq m. deck that overlooks the 18th green, presenting a ideal location for members and visitors to relax over a drink or meal.

Mollymook Golf Club

MOLLYMOOK GOLF CLUB

THE reputation of Mollymook Golf Club's Hilltop course continues to grow after recently being voted No. 2 on the list of "Australia's 50 favourite golf courses", with the rating enhancing course's reputation as the premier golfing destination south of Sydney.

The Hilltop layout has also been nominated twice for the "Best Golf Course in Australia" at the World Golf Awards, making it safe to say Mollymook is now on everyone's golfing map as a "must-play" course.

Mollymook hosts many large corporate, charity and championship golf events each year including the annual NSW Senior Masters Championship on the PGA Legends Tour, and the club was the venue for the $50,000 South Coast Open in 2022 which saw some 120 professionals and elite amateurs compete, Daniel Gale shooting 11-under for the 36-hole tournament, including a new course record score of 66.

Mollymook was also the site of the 2023 Women's NSW Open Golf Regional Qualifying tournament, with 16-year-old Avondale Golf Club young gun Rachel Lee winning in a sudden-death playoff.

To compliment the Hilltop course, the club recently spent more than one million renovating and improving the nine-hole, Beachside course.

The new, shorter, par-27 course with pure Bent grass greens and Zytosia surrounds has been a huge hit with both members and visitors.

At just 1,027m in length it is a great test for experienced players while also providing a bit of fun for social golfers and families enjoying their first game of golf.

Mollymook Golf Club is quite unique featuring two contrasting courses, the 18-hole "Hilltop" course set in a natural bushland environment, with each hole providing its own amphitheatre with heavily tree-lined fairways.

The nine-hole "Beachside" course cuts along the ocean, providing breathtaking coastal views and some interesting challenges.

The Beachside clubhouse, open for lunch and dinner seven days a week, features magnificent views overlooking Mollymook Beach.

Both courses are available for the public to play seven days a week with online bookings essential.

The Hilltop course also hosts competitions seven days a week making Mollymook Golf Club the perfect destination for beginners to the accomplished player with the variety of courses and multiple tee options.

The club has a fleet of 70 Club Car carts featuring the latest Visage GPS navigation, which are available at both courses.

The Oaks Ranch

THE OAKS RANCH

THE Oaks Ranch golf course is open to everyone from dawn to dusk.

The golf course is designed to suit all levels of golfers.

Challenge yourself on our nine-hole course, which is home to local kangaroos and beautifully framed by remarkable scenery.

Our impressive golf course has undergone numerous improvements, including new tees and bunkers.

The small greens with undulating surrounds provide a real test of golfers' shot-making abilities. Water hazards come into play on at least three holes and there are plenty of well-placed bunkers around the course to catch wayward shots.

The ninth hole, from the back tees, requires a long carry over the water just to reach the fairway. Once you are over the water you also need to avoid the huge fairway bunker that hugs the entire left side of the fairway.

It is definitely the toughest hole on the golf course, especially when there is an easterly wind blowing.

After your round, head to the restaurant and bar and enjoy the view of the property.

We have an extensive tapas menu and a three-course menu in the evening. Our bar has large selection of boutique beers on tap and by the bottle as well as a great variety of wines from all over Australia and the globe and, of course, barista coffee.

Stay in our 14 recently refurbished rooms with views over the golf course and the Deua mountain ranges. It's just five minutes to some of the South Coast's most spectacular beaches and surfing locations.

Swim in our magnesium pool or just relax by the fire of an evening. We offer free buggy hire for our hotel guests.

Tura Beach Country Club

TURA BEACH COUNTRY CLUB

THE great attractions at Tura Beach Country Club on the far south coast of NSW become evident when you tee it up and play there.

Five-time British Open champion, the late Peter Thomson and his design partner Mike Wolveridge have delivered an exciting layout, one boasting bent grass greens, tricky and subtle in its challenges, with many suggesting it is the Sapphire Coast's only true championship course.

A selection of Tura Beach's holes can be seen from a clubhouse set high on the hillside with magnificent ocean views across the Pacific, there are two bowling greens, also with million dollar views, with the club a short drive to the Merimbula town centre.

Throw in first-class tennis facilities, a fabulous bistro, function rooms with ocean views and you have one of the best country clubs available in the state.

As for the course itself, the back-nine winds through a Tura forest, with a mixture of cool-season grasses of couch and kikuyu. Regarded as a tough test of golf with some fabulous 'Thomson-signature' bunkering and six par-5s to negotiate, there is also water in play on several holes.

Tura Beach was among Thomson's early projects and designed as a 'links-style' course although the natural bushland can also come into play.

The first hole at Tura Beach is one of the most memorable. A short but straight par-4 set from the highest point on the course, with the ocean right in front, while the par-4 11th is another strong hole with a large water hazard on the right side of the green to catch any stray approach shots.

Also an exceptional venue for golfing events. Go to the Tura Beach website to see more information on two exciting tournaments coming soon – the Veteran Golfers Mixed Fourball Championship, teeing off from March 16-19, or perhaps play the 31st Turassic Classic, a stay and play event scheduled for May 4-10, where the Bega, Eden and Tura Beach courses come together for a special week of golf.

And there's a Queenslander teaching everyone how to play, with former US and European Tour player Loraine Lambert heading up the Sapphire Coast Golf School at Tura Beach.

Visit Tura Beach Country Club, which offers a range of social and sporting membership categories to suit all lifestyles and budgets.
